Light refreshments and discussion on the terrible tragedy unfolding in the Middle East and the Kurdish Community

Speakers:

- Mr Cekdar Deger
- Ms Ozgur Akbas
- Mr Stavros Stavridis

The Kurds are the fourth largest ethnic group in the Middle East. They speak Kurdish, an Indo-European language, and are predominantly Sunni Muslims.

Kurds have a distinct culture, traditions and holidays, including Nowroz the springtime New Year festival that is also celebrated by Iranians and others who use the Persian calendar.
